$2.1 Million Manufacturing System Acquired

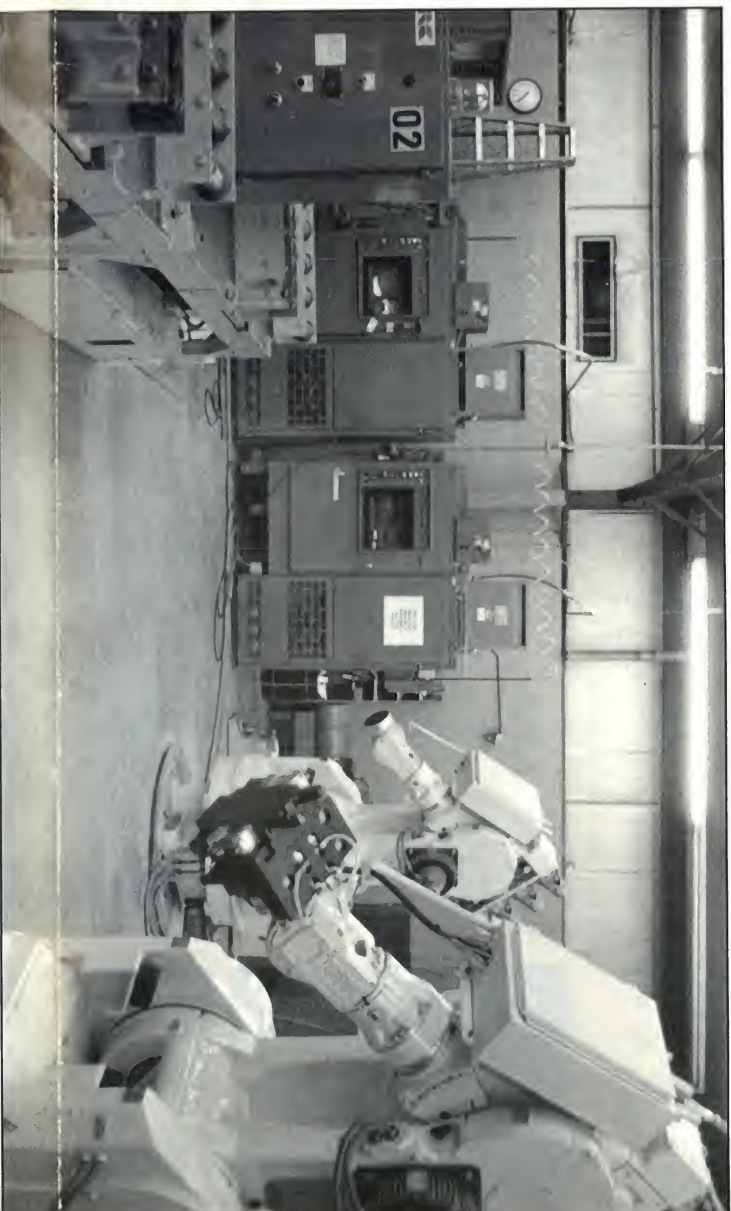

Recent acquisitions in the Division of Engineering and Engineering Technology place LeTourneau University at the forefront of robotics technology in East Texas and in Christian universities with engineering programs nationwide.

Included are two welding robotics systems — a Unimate 3000 and a Yasnak RX L10W — each valued at $50,000, and a fully-automated, computer-integrated manufacturing system valued at $2.1 million consisting of two KUKA robots, a Roberts Automatically Guided Vehicle System (AGVS), and a Daley Automatic Wash Station. The AGVS consists of a controller and two mobile delivery units called carts. The manufacturing system was used by Sundstrand Corp. for about one year and because of a change in its production lines, the company decided to donate the system to an educational institution through Educational Assistance Limited (EAL) of Glen Ellyn, Ill.

LeTourneau was able to purchase the manufacturing system for $50,000 plus an undisclosed amount of scholarship assistance credited to Sundstrand Corp. EAL President Swede Roskam was a key factor in making the deal possible.

The Unimate 3000 welding robotics system was donated by Westinghouse ABB Co. of Muncie, Ind. in August. Maurice Rogers, Project Manager-Tanks for the company and father of welding alumnus Ned Rogers, was instrumental in arranging the gift. The Yasnak RX L10W welding robotics system was donated by Hobart Brothers Corp., Troy, Ohio in September after being on loan from the company since November, 1987. Ned Rogers (WE'84) and Paul Wood (WE'84) helped arrange the original loan. According to Dr. Paul Leiffer, Acting Chairman of the Division of Engineering and Engineering Technology, the new robotics equipment will be used in laboratory classes and for class projects, capstone design projects, and possible industrial research projects.

Dr. Kyun Lee, assistant professor of mechanical engineering, plans to offer a new course entitled "Robotics and Manufacturing Systems." This course will be open to area manufacturing and industry officials as well as LeTourneau students.

"These additions complement our pre-existing equipment such as an IBM 7540 robot, Computer-Aided Design (CAD) laboratory, and Computer Numerically Controlled (CNC) machines," said Leiffer. "Together they give us an enviable position in research capability and make a strong statement about the quality of our program."

LEAP Program Underway

According to Don Connors, Director, the L.E.A.P. Program (Le Tourneau Education for Adult Professionals) is officially underway with two classes filled. One began Oct. 30 and the other began Nov. 21.

"Approximately 40 students are enrolled at this point and we are anticipating other classes beginning fairly quickly," he said. According to Connors, classes are expected to begin in Tyler and Dallas by the end of January. A six-member staff includes Connors; Linda Fitzhugh, assessment and adult services director; Sue Edmonson, secretary; Deborah Verlench, marketing director; Michael Stone, marketing representative; and Elizabeth Wylie, marketing secretary. Longview classes meet one night a week in the Business Classroom Building on the North Loop of the campus.

The L.E.A.P. Program is designed for adult professionals who have a full-time job and have completed 60 or more hours of college credit but have no four-year degree. Students in the L.E.A.P. Program take a 43-credit-hour, 16-course

Le Tourneau Memorial Park to be Dedicated Nov. 30

Founder's Day activities Nov. 30 will feature a special convocation program during chapel, the dedication of an R. G. LeTourneau Memorial Park near the front entrance of the campus, and the publication of a new book chronicling the life of Mr. LeTourneau. The Memorial Park will include a 12-foot-high bronze statue of Mr. LeTourneau by sculptor Keith Knoblock of Heyworth, Ill.

The statue is an exact copy of an earlier bust of LeTourneau unveiled in May, 1988 at Glen Oak Park in Peoria, Ill.

The Park is adjacent to and due south of the LeTourneau grave site near the front entrance to the campus. Included are benches, landscaping, lighting and brick work, plus three of R. G.'s earliest machines. "My father's desire was to serve the Lord in everything he did," said Dr. Richard LeTourneau, former president. "Preserving that heritage means his example will continue to shape the lives of thousands of students." Mrs. Louise Dick, a member of the Board of Trustees, said, "May this statue be a reminder of the spiritual legacy of my father which will influence future generations of students." Construction of the Park began Oct. 1 and took approximately two months to complete. The book took considerably longer.

Entitled The Joy of Accomplishment: It's Always Too Soon to Quit, Nels Stienstrom includes 11 chapters and 131 pages of fresh insights and personal recollections about Mr. LeTourneau, capturing in print the personality and drive of this world-famous inventor. Stienstrom, 82, is a former executive assistant to the president of R. G. LeTourneau Inc., assistant to the president of LeTourneau College, editor of Now and traveled extensively with R. G. during the last five years of his life. Currently he is a member of the Trustee Board.

Ownership Plus Accountability Equals Partnership

Each year we entitle this Fall issue of the Now "The President's Report." It is my attempt to provide you with a review of the major happenings of the past year. I feel it important to keep our alumni and friends well-informed regarding the events, programs and the general well-being of the University. Having a knowledgeable constituency is advantageous to us in several ways:

(1) It encourages OWNERSHIP of and participation in the activities and projects of the institution. We all know we are more inclined to support a cause when we feel like we know what is going on. None of us enjoy being surprised or left out in the dark. We respond better when we are communicated with in an honest and open manner.

(2) By sharing openly with you, it makes us ACCOUNTABLE to you. When an organization is openly accountable, it is less likely to abuse its resources and it will seek to avoid the disgrace brought by the misuse of its funds. We are keenly aware of the damage that has been done in recent months by some ministries that have not held themselves accountable to their constituents. We are deeply committed to being good stewards of the resources which we have and to maintaining the highest degree of personal and institutional integrity in all of our practices.

What are some of the practices that help make LeTourneau University accountable? 1) We are governed by an independent Board of Trustees that is beholden to no one. They serve without any compensation and are selected based upon their Christian commitment, their support of Christian higher education, and their ability to offer professional and personal leadership to the institution. They are strong, outstanding leaders who bring personal competence, integrity and a deep spiritual sensitivity to their positions. 2) We operate within a sophisticated business and accounting system that requires appropriate authorizations for all expenditures. We seek competitive bids, where possible, and avoid associations where any potential or real conflicts-of-interest can occur. 3) Every year we have a full independent audit of our financial records and our basic financial management procedures. This is done by the nationally-recognized certified public accounting firm of Peat Marwick Main and Company. The audit report is presented directly to the Board of Trustees and is available for public review upon written request. 4) We are members of the Evangelical Council for Financial Accountability (ECFA), a national organization that sets rigorous standards in both the financial accountability and fund raising areas. As we seek to uphold stringent ACCOUNTABILITY standards, I trust that your sense of OWNERSHIP of LeTourneau University, its people, its programs, and its mission will grow even stronger. I hope that you are pleased with the progress that is being made at LeTourneau University. Your PARTNERSHIP with us as faithful prayer warriors, as persons who encourage potential students to consider attending LeTourneau, and as persons who sacrificially give of your financial resources so that we can provide the necessary programs, financial aid, equipment, facilities and personnel to make this the outstanding University that it is, is deeply appreciated. Thanks, PARTNER!

$700,000 Campaign to Establish Endowed Welding Chair Approved

A $700,000 endowment campaign has been authorized by the LeTourneau University Board of Trustees to establish the Omer Blodgett Chair of Welding and Materials Joining Engineering. When completed, the annual interest from the principal will fund the first endowed professorship at LeTourneau. The campaign is being coordinated by the Welding Engineering Advisory Council and Welding Alumni Chapter in conjunction with the Office of University Advancement.

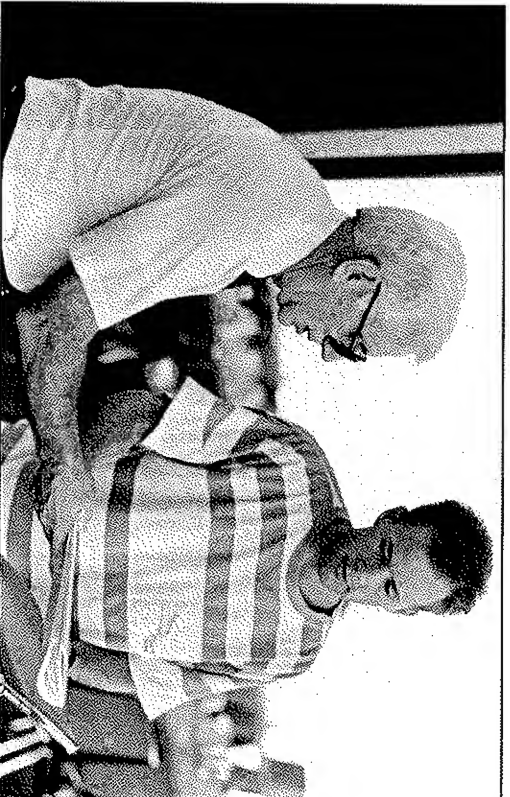

Art Waskey (WE'72) is serving as chairman of the Campaign Steering Committee. Other Committee members include Ned Rogers (WE'84), Barney Burks (WT'84), Dale Hill (WE'69) and Skip Curtis (WE'73). In all, the Welding Alumni Chapter has approximately 275 members. Fundraising will be conducted among four primary groups: 1) welding alumni and friends of the program, 2) manufacturers of welding and related products, 3) related professional societies, and 4) friends and professional associates of Omer Blodgett.

The campaign will include two phases: Phase One culminates April 25, 1990, the date of the annual American Welding Society Show in Anaheim, Calif. By then all LeTourneau welding alumni will have been contacted concerning the endowment campaign. Phase Two will involve contact and solicitation from the other three primary target donor groups.

According to Waskey, "The Welding Alumni Chapter and the Welding Engineering Advisory Council recognize the uniqueness of the Welding Engineering and Welding Technology programs at LeTourneau University as they have combined quality education and training with Christian faith and values. Therefore, to ensure the continued success of this program and to facilitate its ability to meet the challenges of the future, we seek to raise an endowment fund to underwrite a Chair of Welding and Materials Joining Engineering.

"It is the assessment of the Welding Alumni Chapter and the Welding Engineering Advisory Council that the addition of a faculty position staffed by a person holding a doctorate in Welding Metallurgy or a related field would assist in strengthening the program and encourage its growth at the University," Waskey concluded.

"Through the years one of the most active groups in support of the University has been our welding alumni," said Dr. Jim Sjernstrom, Vice President for University Advancement.

"They have maintained a strong interest and desire to build up and improve the welding program and through personal influence and professional contacts have obtained a number of equipment and supply gifts to keep the program up-to-date," he added.

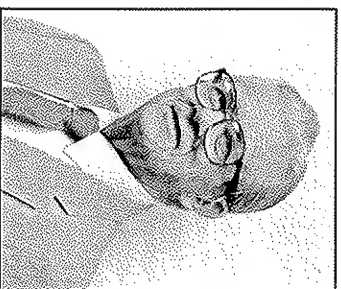

"This new initiative will continue a pattern of sustained interest in the welding program and will significantly impact both the University, future welding students and the welding industry," he concluded.

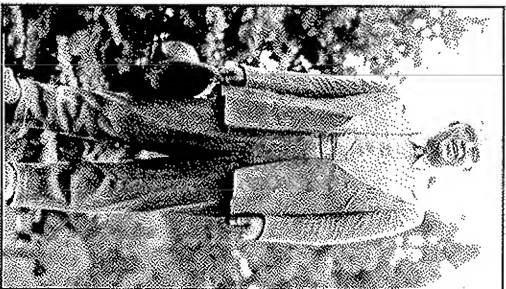

Dr. David Beckley, president of Wiley College, Marshall, Texas will deliver the winter commencement address Dec. 15.

Art Waskey is chairman of the Campaign Steering Committee for the $700,000 Endowed Welding Chair.

Nels Sjernstrom has authored a new book about R. G. LeTourneau entitled "The Joy of Accomplishment: It's Always Too Soon to Quit."

A campus statue of University founder R. G. LeTourneau will be unveiled at Founder's Day ceremonies Nov. 30.

Phonathon Benefits Student Scholarships

At the Third Annual Alumni Phonathon more than one hundred enthusiastic students and faculty/staff volunteered over four nights, from October 30 to November 2, to call our very special LeTourneau Alumni. Even though our students are not professional callers, our alumni responded very generously and we met our goal of $40,000 for student scholarships. This was an increase over last year's amount of $35,000.

According to Director of Alumni Relations John Galliano, "We hope to improve our Annual Alumni Phonathon each year to provide the much needed scholarship aid and to personally keep in touch with our alumni."

Student Invents Mobile Power Unit for Mission Field

Joel Copper, a student and lab assistant in the Automotive Technology Department at LeTourneau University, designed and constructed a Mobile Power Unit this past summer. The machine provides various types of power for work in remote areas and is designed to fill a need in the appropriate technology field. The machine performs hydraulic, electric, welding and compression functions and even has a small crane. It is self-contained on a towable trailer.

Copper entered the MPU in a Dallas exhibit Oct. 29 and said he plans to market his invention to mission organizations, churches, construction, camp and maintenance ministries. Copper plans to graduate in December with an Associate of Science degree in Automotive Technology. Last year Copper designed and constructed a hydraulic log splitter.

Three of six roles in an original musical production this fall for a local festival were played by two LeTourneau University faculty members and a LeTourneau student.

Dr. Martin Batts, Associate Professor of English, was cast as the villainous Simon D. Asterdly in the Theatre Project Longview production of the Loblolly Follies, while Director of Music Groups Scarlett Morris was cast as heroine Precious Priscilla Farnsworth and student Mike Johnson portrayed hero Gordon Donegood.

An original script, lyrics and musical score for the Loblolly Follies were developed by Theatre Project Longview Director Rodney Blackwell and TPL members David and Scarlett Morris and Tracy and Norma Huber this summer.

The plot revolves around a widow and her attractive daughter who inherit a large tract of timber in East Texas and the decisions they must make in order to resolve a large family debt.

The scenes are interspersed with witty, tongue-in-cheek commercials for fictitious pine products, and include songs such as "Man Like A Tree," "Father O Father," "Purely Profitable," "Land Management," "I'm Not A Bad Guy" and "Loblolly Jubilee."

The Loblolly Follies was funded by a grant from Kilgore Federal Savings & Loan Association. Performances were conducted Oct. 7-8 in Longview at the Loblolly Jubilee, a regional festival celebrating the loblolly pine tree, and Oct. 19 in Diboll at the 75th anniversary of the Texas Forestry Association.

Bruce Cook, Director of University Relations, is president of Festival in the Pines, Inc., a nonprofit, tax exempt organization which sponsors the Loblolly Jubilee.

Student Senate Sets Spiritual Priorities

The LeTourneau University Student Senate is attempting to change its direction this year, according to President Paul Bradley.

Other Senate officers for 1989-90 include Barb Silveri, executive vice president; Ken Daniels, vice president - ministries; Craig Zienba, vice president - activities; Susan Gustafson, secretary; and Richard Bringhurst, treasurer.

"Our three areas of concentration have traditionally been executive affairs (legislation), activities and ministries," said Bradley. "It looks like the Senate will get progressively more involved in ministries and activities and less involved in legislation and issues."

"Every week we ask ourselves, 'What is the purpose of Senate? Are we doing what we're supposed to be doing? Are we fulfilling our purpose? If not, what can we do to change?'" said Bradley.

"We don't have power to make policy," he added. "Lots of issues are small and trivial and come up every year such as lounge hours, library hours, cafeteria hours, etc. There are probably 20 issues like this that we would like to see addressed, including rewriting our own Constitution," he said. "But it's frustrating to deal with these kinds of issues, and that's not where our focus is. One of our goals this year is to reduce apathy on campus, not that it is easily done by the Senate or by adding more programs."

According to Bradley, new programs this year include a Sunday night Breakaway which is a time of praise, worship and prayer held in a different campus location each week. A Wednesday night Mission Prayer time is also a weekly feature, and the Student Senate is sponsoring a student mission trip to Mexico during spring break under the banner AIM (Action in Mexico).

"Last year several groups of students spontaneously organized a trip to Mexico during spring break to do missions," he said. "This year we decided to make it official by taking on the sponsorship of these efforts," he said.

"We'd also like to encourage more student involvement with the local community," he said. One traditional way this happens is with campus activities, primarily concerts, which local church groups attend. Concerts this year include Bryan Duncan, Nov. 18; Isaac Air Freight, Dec. 9; Jeremiah People, Jan. 12; Kim Boyce & Band, Feb. 3; and Margaret Becker & Band, March 15.

Other new programs that are in the developmental stage include conducting chapel programs at the Rescue Mission on Highway 80; supplying a team of at least 30 students to assist Operation Clean Sweep in removing trash and making structural improvements to homes in Stamper Park, a slum area of Longview, next spring; and forming several prayer/discipleship groups on campus made up of interested faculty and students.

"Right now we have seven faculty

Another Student Senate goal is to improve relationships on campus between individuals and groups. "We're trying to be more sensitive to married students, for example," said Bradley. "We have a married couple serving on our Activities Committee and this year for the first time we're offering discounts to student activities for student wives."

The Senate is also working with Director of Health Services Laura Miyagi to develop a system for having more get-well cards sent to students who are sick.

"We pray a lot," said Bradley. "We meet each Tuesday to pray for each other and for the school."

"Our approach is more personal relationships than programs," said Bradley. "We struggle because people tend to look at Senate based on our activity level, but we measure success through growth."

A final Senate goal is to improve its own image among students. "We're trying to make Senate fun and down-to-earth," said Bradley.

"We're trying to be real and operate on the average student's level. We're trying to be students rather than administrators. We want to have an atmosphere where any student can come to our meetings and tell us whatever is on their mind in complete confidence," he said.

"We love our job," he concluded. "We love every minute of this. We love each other and we have fun together."

Alumnus Elected to Alaskan Legislature

LeTourneau alumnus Loren Leman ('68-'69) was elected to the Alaska House of Representatives Nov. 8, 1988, and has put his engineering background to good use during the past year.

"I'm convinced engineers make excellent legislators," he said, "because they're trained to solve problems and approach things rationally."

Leman should know. He runs his own engineering company (Consulting Engineering Services) and has bachelors and masters degrees in civil engineering from Oregon State University and Stanford University, respectively.

He is also a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers, Water Pollution Control Federation, Alaska Water Management Association, and American Legislative Exchange Council.

And during the 1989 Alaska legislative session (from the first week in January to the first week in May) Leman got plenty of opportunities for problem-solving.

"We're faced right now with a terrible budget crisis," he said. "States that are oil dependent have been hit hard in recent years, and 85 percent of our total revenues as a State come from the oil and petroleum industries.

"At one time we were facing as much as a billion dollar deficit," he said, "but OPEC stabilized production and that saved our bacon. Recently there's been an upward climb in the price of oil and for every $1 increase on the world market price, the State of Alaska gains $150 million a year."

Leman characterized his first year in office as "frustrating, rewarding, disappointing.

"Some people are not who they represent themselves to be to the public," he said.

Leman said that State revenues have declined for the last several years, and with oil reserves being depleted at five to eight percent a year, he is a strong advocate of belt-tightening and cost-cutting measures.

Instead of trimming the budget and providing incentives for new oil exploration, however, the Legislature voted to increase the budget by levying new taxes on the oil industry.

"These short term solutions will cause long term devastation," he said.

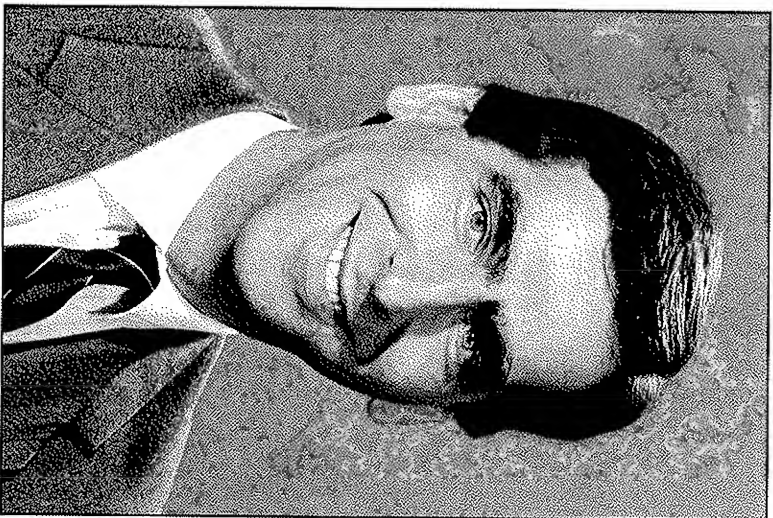

During the Legislative session Leman introduced a variety of bills supporting issues such as budget reductions, good government, education, fire enterprise, local hiring, parental rights, and the environment.

He described the legislator's role in society as helping to shape values. "We legislate values in everything we do and if they're not ours, they're someone else's," he said.

Leman said Alaska is the only State in America where it is legal for adults over 19 to use marijuana and to possess up to four ounces. A bill has been introduced to change that, he said, "but key people are holding it in committee to prevent a vote on the bill."

There are several other Christians in the Legislature, he said, but not nearly enough. "We need more Christians in politics in general," he said.

However, Leman said being Christian by itself isn't enough. "It's important to be well-balanced, contributors to our community, LeTourneau alumnus Loren Leman (GE '68-'69) was elected to the Alaska House of Representatives Nov. 8, 1988.

respected in our area, knowledgeable on the issues, and able to run a good race.

"I figured if I wasn't willing to get involved, maybe I shouldn't complain," he added.

According to Leman, "The real battle is not Democrat versus Republican or conservative versus liberal. It comes down to one's outlook on the origin of life, the order of life and where one is going," he said.

"If you believe in an all-knowing Savior who provides a way of escape from death and union with God then your whole philosophy is different if you are governed by those principles. But if you believe in an arbitrary, chaotic universe created by chance, your actions are not guided by any principles because your whole value system is ever-changing," he said.

The Lemans are a close family and Loren stated, "One of my highest priorities is promoting strong families and the welfare of our children." In this regard, he was recently appointed to a Special Task Force on Children and Family Services.

Loren's family includes his wife, Carolyn, and their children, Rachel and Joseph. They practice togetherness.

During the 1989 Legislative Session the family accompanied him to Juneau, and about seven weeks each summer, the family manages a commercial salmon fishing operation which they own.

They have been involved in a local congregation, the Anchorage Grace Brethren Church, which Leman describes as a "good hodgepodge of people," for the past eight years.

During that time members of the congregation have started three other churches in the Anchorage area, Leman said. The Lemans also get plenty of exercise and keep physically fit. "I play softball and basketball, the kids swim, and we walk and ride bicycles together," he said.

One unusual activity is door-to-door campaigning as a family. "We dress alike in campaign colors (blue)," he said. "People enjoy having the children as part of the campaign."

Leman admits that his schedule is a bit tighter than he likes it, saying, "It takes a little self-discipline."

That's one commodity he seems to have a good supply of.

Lamp Program Set For April

The Division of Special Programs will be offering an exciting new program this spring, according to Georgie Wilcox, Director. "Special arrangements have been made for a limited number of senior citizens to attend the LAMP (Learning Adventure for Mature People) Program April 1-7," she said.

"Rarely is such an opportunity available to the nontraditional student for concentrated short-term study in the Word of God at a Christian university," she added. During this week-long intensive program, students will attend a variety of classes (Minor Prophets, Daniel and Revelation, Ethics and the Christian, Music in the Church, Traditions versus Biblical Tenets, Preparing for Death, and Dealing With Grief).

Some housing is available on the campus, and 10 RV hook-ups are available.

Nearby motels are conveniently located for those desiring off-campus housing. All meals and classes will be on campus, and there will be opportunities for fellowship with faculty, staff and students.

Check-in begins at 3:00 p.m. Sunday, April 1 and the LAMP Program ends with breakfast Saturday, April 7.

Cost for those who stay in campus housing or bring their own RV will be $190, and for those staying in area motels will be $268. For those in the greater Longview area, a special "commuter" rate of $120 is available.

There will be some special evening activities and selected events to complement the teaching and learning during the day.

All those who enjoy studying the Bible are urged to consider this unique opportunity. To register or obtain more information, call Wilcox at 1-800-759-8811 or locally at 753-0231. Space is limited, so you are encouraged to register soon.

SPECIAL EDITION: THE PRESIDENT'S ANNUAL REPORT

Fall Enrollment Shows Increase

The fall registration count at LeTourneau University was 773, according to Roger Kieffer, Director of Enrollment Management. This reflects an increase of 20 students over 1988. "We are encouraged by the upward trend that we see developing in our application pool as well as actual matriculants," said Kieffer.

"The competition for college students is very keen but we are gaining ground and the move to university status definitely helped," he added.

The fall enrollment includes students from 49 states and two U.S. Trust territories plus 25 foreign countries. Texas led the way again with 219 students, followed by Pennsylvania with 49, Illinois with 34, and California with 28.

In terms of academic majors, aviation had a 17 percent increase and led the way with 220, followed by engineering with 166, engineering technology with 114, and computer science with 67. The Division of Business Administration had 96 majors.

Also significant was a decrease in the ratio of males to females, 642 to 131, or roughly five-to-one. This compares to a six-to-one ratio over the past several years.

"Our staff worked extremely hard this past year and executed our marketing plan to perfection," said Kieffer. "That, coupled with God's grace, resulted in our first enrollment increase in several years."

Student Senate Sets Concert Schedule

Concerts sponsored by the LeTourneau University Student Senate this year include Bryan Duncan, Nov. 18; Isaac Air Freight, Dec. 9; Jeremiah Boyce & Band, Feb. 3; and Margaret Becker & Band, March 15. Concerts are held in the Assembly Building. For more information contact the Office of Student Affairs at (214) 753-0231.

As I reflect upon the many facets of College life that determine the quality of the year just past, I am overwhelmed with the many fine things that have happened to LeTourneau University during the last fiscal year. To describe my feelings I find myself drawn to the opening line of the Doxology, "Praise God from whom all blessings flow" and then to the words from the once popular Frank Sinatra song, "It Was A Very Good Year." A good year it was and we do give praise to our God and Father for his leadership and generous blessings.

Let me just highlight a few of the many blessings that were bestowed upon LeTourneau University this past year.

FINANCIAL. In an area where colleges are burdened with ever increasing debt loads and even going bankrupt, we have had a solid financial year. In fact, as we enter this our 44th year as an educational institution, we are probably on the firmest financial foundation that we have ever been. By holding to a tight budget and due to the generosity of our many friends, we ended the year with a very modest budget surplus of $24,000. Our indebtedness, all long-term capital debt, is very modest but was reduced by more than $332,000 to a manageable $2.65 million. Our endowment, still pitifully low, has increased over the past three years by 89 percent to slightly more than $900,000. A very good year!

GIFTS AND CAPITAL CAMPAIGN. Total giving during the year to LeTourneau University exceeded $2.3 million, with $1.4 million of that coming as unrestricted gifts to the basic support of the University and its financial aid programs, and $900,000 coming as gifts restricted for specific projects. This compares to a 1988 total of $1.4 million and $1.3 million in 1987. In fact, in dollars received it was the best year ever in the history of the institution. The Capture The Vision capital campaign is moving forward toward meeting its base goal of $5.7 million. To date, the campaign has received more than $4.2 million in gifts and pledges. Of significant importance is the progress being made on the funding of Longview Hall.

Longview Hall, a $2 million academic facility that will house our departments of Business and Math and Computer Science as well as several academic administrative offices, is at the top of our building needs for the campus. With the recent $200,000 matching gift pledge from the J. E. and L. E. Mabee Foundation, we now have more than $1.2 million raised for this structure. In order to receive the Mabee funds, we must raise the remaining $800,000. Help from our friends and alumni in identifying potential donors for the remainder of these funds is needed.

One of the unique ways that friends, alumni and corporations have assisted us in this past year is through the donation of equipment. With the high cost and quickly-changing technology of engineering and scientific equipment, we simply could not keep up with the demands in this area if it were not for these gifts-in-kind. This past year we received several robots, a twin-engine aircraft for our Aviation Technology program, several computer-controlled manufacturing machines, laser equipment, a nuclear magnetic resonance machine, physiological testing equipment, and numerous smaller items and books. Praise God from whom all blessings flow!

CAMPUS IMPROVEMENTS. Perhaps the most impressive change in the appearance of the campus which has been made in recent years is the redesign and reworking of the entire front of the campus including the entrance and entry roads. Gifts totaling more than $300,000 allowed us the opportunity to create an entrance that eliminates the confusion of multiple campus entries and also greatly enhances the appearance of the campus. Several hundred bushes and trees have been planted, all of which will provide beauty and shade for years to come. Much renovation work occurred over the summer in the Aviation Technology offices and classroom buildings, in the Business Administration building, and in the Gym. A gift from a local soft drink company allowed us to install new scoreboards in the gym and on the soccer field. New lights have been installed on the soccer field. New carpeting was installed in Tyler Residence Hall. It was a very good year!

PERSONNEL. People are what LeTourneau University is all about. We are grateful for the quality service and diligent leadership of our many faculty and staff. We praise the Lord that He has directed these dedicated individuals to be a part of the LeTourneau team in spite of the lower salaries and the heavy workloads. We are pleased to have the services of several new faculty and staff who have joined us this fall. You have already been introduced to them in this and previous issues of the Now.

Our most important people are our students. They are a special group. They are bright (Average ACT of 23, SAT 1017), come from 49 states and 24 nations, and are deeply interested in preparing themselves for not only professional careers but also for a life of ministry. We are most pleased at the spiritual vigor that they exemplify. Our student leaders, led by Student Senate President Paul Bradley, have made the spiritual growth of the student body their top priority for the year. We are also pleased that they are responding to the quality programs being offered at LeTourneau University. Our freshman class is up for each of the past two years. Our retention of existing students is also increasing. Our total enrollment was up by more than twenty students this fall. It was a very good year!

PROGRAMS. The year began on a high note as we received word of our unqualified reaffirmation of our specialized accreditation status by the Accrediting Board of Engineering and Technology. This is a very prestigious accreditation and we have been among the smallest and among the few Christian institutions to hold this recognition.

Our Research and Advanced Development Institute continues to provide service to industry and business as well as involve our students and faculty in quality practical experiences. This last year we conducted research projects for such groups as NASA, Westinghouse Nuclear, Colt Industries, UT Tyler, M-Bank, Barrow Energy, Morton-Thiokol, The Welding Research Council, etc. Our new LEAP (LeTourneau Education for Adult Professionals) program began and is offering a specialized Business Management degree to working adults in Longview and soon to be throughout Northeast Texas, including Dallas.

Our Board approved the re-establishment of a Teacher Education Certification Program which will begin in the Fall of 1990.

We had an outstanding series of chapel programs with highlights including Gloria Gaither, Dr. Harry Lee, Dr. Myron Augsburg, Dr. David McKenna and Dean Orner. We had an outstanding Founder's Day as we celebrated R. G. LeTourneau's 100th birthday anniversary. This year on November 30,

"Pop's" 101st birthday anniversary, will see us dedicate a statue and memorial park area in remembrance of our founder.

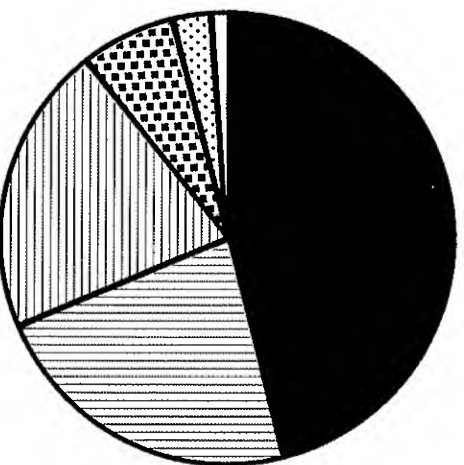

We became LETOURNEAU UNIVERSITY. With an official celebration on September 1, 1989, we formally made the transition from College to University. This was a process that continues to move us forward as we strive for greater excellence, more diversity, additional opportunities to serve, and a desire to provide leadership with a vision for Christian higher education.

Fiscal year 1989 was a very good year and we do praise our God from whom all blessings have come and continue to flow!

1988-89 Gifts Top $2 Million

The year-end financial report shows that 1988-89 was the best fund-raising year in the history of LeTourneau University with gifts received totaling more than $2.2 million including $832,324 in restricted gifts and $1,389,000 in unrestricted gifts.

Gifts and pledges toward the three-year Capture The Vision campaign now total more than $4 million as we strive to reach the $5.7 million base goal, and then go beyond that to the $7.7 million challenge goal. Trustee gifts and pledges total more than $760,000, the most ever.

Landscaping and new roads at the entrance to the campus, made possible by a major gift from Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Belcher, mark the completion of the first major campaign project. The entrance has made a major difference in the appearance of the campus and is a convincing statement that LeTourneau University is on the move. The construction of another classroom building is the next major project on the drawing board. Gifts totaling $1 million have been received for this critically-needed facility. In October the J. E. and L. E. Mabee Foundation in Tulsa, Okla. presented the University with a challenge grant. They will provide $200,000 for the classroom building if by October 1990 we raise the $800,000 balance remaining to fund the project. Work is now underway to meet terms of the Mabee Foundation's generous challenge.

Friends of the University

The following individuals and organizations made contributions of $100 or more to LeTourneau University during the period July 1, 1988 to June 30, 1989. We are deeply appreciative of each and every gift, and for the many friends who make it possible to carry on the work of educating Christian young people. Rest assured that your gifts are used in a manner consistent with the sacrifice that accompanies them. Many other gifts of lesser value were also received. We are grateful to those donors as well.

President's Circle

Initiated in 1987, members of the President's Circle contribute $1,000 or more per year to the Annual Fund.

LeTourneau University Trustee Elliott Belcher of Brent, Ala. was honored Oct. 16 by Religious Heritage of America with a 1989 Business and Professional Award. Religious Heritage of America, founded in 1951, is an interfaith association which believes that the Judeo-Christian principles upon founded are vital for America today.

Trustee V. R. "Swede" Roskam of Glen Ellyn, Ill. helped arrange the acquisition of a $2.1 million fully-automated, computer integrated manufacturing system for LeTourneau University this fall.

Dr. Alvin O. Austin, President of LeTourneau University, is president-elect of the Longview Chamber of Commerce. He will take office Jan. 1, 1991, succeeding Susan Welch, 1990 President. Austin is currently serving as Co-Chair of the Chambers Community Development Task Force, which recently completed a comprehensive study of present and future needs of Longview.

Donald Wolgemuth of Mount Joy, Pa. returns to the Board of Trustees for a third term.

Tom Hunt (EE '59) of Longview has been elected to the LeTourneau University Board of Trustees. He is Branch Sales Manager for Siemens Energy & Automation.

Harry Jeffcoat, Jr. has been elected to the LeTourneau University Board of Trustees to fill the unexpired term of Phil Hook, who resigned to join the LeTourneau faculty this fall as Distinguished Visiting Professor of Biblical Studies. Jeffcoat, 71, is owner and president of Harry Jeffcoat, Jr. & Associates, Consulting Mechanical Engineers, of Birmingham, Ala.

Alumni Directory Is On Schedule

Approximately 1,000 LeTourneau alumni have responded so far with information updates for the 1990-91 Alumni Directory, according to John Galliano, Director of Alumni Relations. "We are pleased with the response and encourage all other alumni to send in their completed questionnaires in order to ensure an accurate listing in the new directory," said Galliano.

"Many of those responding have provided us with addresses and other information on alumni not listed in the 1988-89 directory," Galliano added.

Approximately one-third to one-half of those responding have enclosed $10 to cover the cost of printing and shipping their alumni directory, he said. The $10 is tax deductible.

"It's almost like a family reunion," said Galliano. "It's somewhat like hearing from old friends, long-lost brothers and sisters, cousins and uncles and aunts. Getting to read about what everyone is doing and the new marriages, the new babies, the new jobs, the new addresses, and the new churches is fascinating and a real joy for us in the Alumni Office," he said.

Galliano said he would like as complete a listing as possible and asks that all alumni, including those who attended from 1946-'61, contact the Alumni Office with current information about themselves and other alumni that they know. "With your help this will be the most up-to-date and accurate directory yet," he concluded.

The new alumni directory should be distributed by early fall, 1990.

LeTourneau Offering Engineering Exam

LeTourneau University is one of seven sites in Texas offering the National Engineering Aptitude Search (NEAS) during 1989-90. Dates the exam will be offered are Dec. 16, Jan. 20, Feb. 17, March 10 and April 21.

Application deadlines are approximately three weeks prior to test dates. The test is designed to help high school students planning to major in science, mathematics, engineering or technology determine their strengths and weaknesses and better understand their potential for success in college. NEAS registration forms are available at local high schools or from the LeTourneau Division of Engineering and Engineering Technology.

Interested students should send their completed form and a $15 check or money order to ACT-NEAS, P.O. Box 168, Iowa City, Iowa 52243.

$200,000 Challenge Issued by Mabee For Longview Hall

The J. E. and L. E. Mabee Foundation of Tulsa, Okla. has issued a $200,000 challenge grant to LeTourneau University toward the construction of a $2 million Longview Hall Academic Center, according to LeTourneau President Alvin O. Austin.

The Center will house offices and classrooms for the Division of Business Administration, the Division of Mathematics and Computer Science, the Office of Special Programs and the L.E.A.P. Program.

According to Austin, approximately $1 million in cash and pledges has already been raised for the Longview Hall project, and with the challenge grant, the balance is $800,000.

The Longview Hall Academic Center is part of a three-year, $5.7 million Capture The Vision capital campaign which began July 1, 1988. To date $4.2 million has been contributed to the campaign. Included were recent gifts of $75,000 by the Longview Clearinghouse Association, Inc., a group of eight Longview banks including Bank of Longview, Longview Bank & Trust, Bank One Texas, Spring Hill State Bank, Team Bank, Texas Commerce Bank, Texas National Bank and First Interstate Bank; $15,000 from Marathon LeTourneau Co., and $9,000 from the Longview News-Journal.

"We have a tremendous appreciation for the commitment of the J. E. and L. E. Mabee Foundation to private, values-driven higher education," said Austin. "This challenge grant is a significant investment in LeTourneau University, and adds to previous grants by the Mabee Foundation toward the construction of the Heath-Hardwick Liberal Arts Center (1986) and a residence facility, the J. E. and L. E. Mabee Hall (1982). "This challenge grant puts us over the halfway mark toward the necessary funding for the Longview Hall project," Austin added, "and we are confident that other gifts will be announced in the near future."

The J. E. and L. E. Mabee Foundation was incorporated in 1948 and is a major source of support for Christian religious organizations, charitable organizations, vocational and technical schools, institutions of higher learning, and scientific research activity in Texas, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri and New Mexico.

National Soccer Tournament Set Nov. 22-25

The National Christian College Athletic Association (NCCAA) will host its postseason soccer tournament to determine a national champion at LeTourneau University for the fifth consecutive year, according to Dave Diehl, head soccer coach and tournament director. Scheduled for Nov. 22-25, the annual shootout will feature division champions from around the country in a double elimination format. Eight teams will vie for championship honors, with the prelims on Wednesday and Thursday, semi-finals on Friday, and finals on Saturday. "Earlier this fall we also received word from Joe Harding, NCCAA National Soccer Chairman, that LeTourneau University has been approved as the host site for the 1990, 1991 and 1992 national tournaments," said Diehl.

"This is a tremendous honor for our institution and we are fortunate to have a supportive administration and community to make this tournament a success each year," he said. The letter in part stated, "We are excited that LeTourneau University will continue hosting our National Soccer Tournament for another three years. The quality of the Tournament has continually improved and has set high standards for the future. We especially appreciate the dedication and countless hours of work that you [Diehl] put into making the Tournament a success each year. We also want to express our appreciation to Dr. Austin for support he and the University have shown the NCCAA."

New lights costing $20,000 have been installed on the soccer field recently in preparation for this year's national tournament, and should greatly improve the visibility for evening contests. "This kind of commitment is deeply appreciated," Diehl said. The Yellow Jackets have a 5-11 record so far this season but hope to improve on that.

"Right now we're playing real well," said Diehl. "We have more talent than in past years and so we're looking forward to the tournament," he said. Admission for adults is $4 for a two-game session.

College, high school and elementary students are $2 per two-game session. Tickets may be purchased by calling 753-0231, ext. 211.

Basketball Season Underway

The 1989-90 LeTourneau basketball season got underway earlier this month with several games on the road, followed by the annual Yellow Jacket Tip-Off Tourney. Coach Terry Zeitlow is optimistic, stating, "Of the three teams I've had at LeTourneau, this is by far the deepest and probably the most talented." The Yellow Jackets return approximately half of last year's team, including the top three scorers — Mid Johnson, Brian Voss and Jim Lundquist. Lundquist also led the team in rebounding. Other veterans include Scotty Palmer, Neil Sommerville and Shane Patterson. Patterson led the team in assists last year, while Palmer provided pressure defense and Sommerville added another rebounding threat.

The six veterans are joined by seven newcomers including freshmen Paul Kinch, Ed Henderson, Dan Burkhart, Bernie Kampenga, Phil O'Connor, junior Greg Mason, and sophomore Ken Mullins. Several of the rookies should see lots of playing time this season, according to Zeitlow. "This team works very hard and is determined to make this the most successful season LeTourneau has seen in recent years," said Zeitlow. The regular season ends Feb. 24 with the NCCAA District Tournament March 8-10.

Lady Jackets Win Conference Title

The LeTourneau women's volleyball team finished 17-13 under first year head coach Cathy Luckert.

The team completed its season Oct. 27-28 at the district tournament in Hillsboro, Kan., falling victim to nationally-ranked Tabor College and John Brown University.

Sophomore Lei Ferris was named to the All-Tournament and All-District teams.

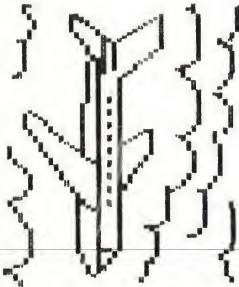

The Lady Jackets won their fourth straight Mid South Christian Conference title with a 9-1 mark, including wins over East Texas Baptist University and Jarvis Christian College.
